

Holiday task-Language

We would like you to prepare for English Language A Level in September by starting a text scrapbook which will then be developed and used during your lessons next year.

We want you to collect a variety of texts that are written for different purposes and then write a short paragraph of analysis explaining why you think the text is effective in its purpose. For example, you may find a persuasive letter from a charity that has been sent to your home and write a paragraph exploring the persuasive techniques that text uses (such as the use of pronouns) and why it's effective for that particular audience.

The range of purposes are:

- To Persuade
- To Inform
- To Entertain
- To Analyse

Please find 2 texts for each purpose, but maybe for different audiences (e.g. one may be written for children and one for adults).
